

GLOBAL BANKING Export Letters of Credit

When selling internationally, the agreed-upon terms between you and your overseas customer can make a significant difference in your cash flow. When you ask your buyer to pay you under a Letter of Credit (L/C), you substantially reduce the risk of non payment.

Bank of South Pacific Limited can help your company select the appropriate terms of payment in virtually every situation, mitigating financial risk and increasing your company's control over its export activities. We can also help expedite your overseas transactions and provide financing for your export business.

How you benefit

Minimal risk of non-payment. With an irrevocable letter of credit naming your company as the beneficiary, you shift payment responsibility from your customer to your customer's bank
